The Broad Prize
School District
Eligibility Criteria

Districts cannot apply for The Broad Prize. To be eligible for The Broad Prize, school districts must meet certain criteria related to size, poverty and urbanicity. Winners from the previous three years are ineligible (Boston Public Schools, Norfolk Public Schools and Garden Grove Unified School District). The eligibility criteria are:

- All K-12 districts serving more than 100,000 students
- All K-12 districts serving between 35,000 and 99,999 students and that have:
 - at least 40 percent of students eligible for Free or Reduced-Price School Lunch (FRSL)
 - at least 40 percent of student enrollment coming from minority groups and
 - an urban designation (Locale Code 1, 2, or 3 in the National Center for Education Statistics' Common Core of Data*)
- Any previous year finalist with at least 20,000 students and the largest urban district (Locale Code 1, 2 or 3) in states with no districts meeting the above criteria, as long as the district has at least 20,000 students and has either 40 percent FRSL or 40 percent minority.
- To complete the list of 100 districts, if needed, the largest urban district (Locale Code 1, 2, or 3) that has either 40 percent FRSL or 40 percent minority and is larger than 20,000 students.

*Locale Code 1 (Large City) represents a city with a population of 250,000 or more that is the central city in a Census Bureau Core Based Statistical Area (CBSA) or Consolidated Statistical Area (CSA). Locale Code 2 (Mid-size City) is a city with less than 250,000 people that nonetheless is a central city in a CBSA or CSA. Locale Code 3 (urban fringe of a large city) represents an area defined as urban by the Census Bureau falling within the CBSA or CSA of a large city. For example, Los Angeles Unified School District is a Code 1 district, Providence Public Schools is a Code 2 district and Garden Grove Unified School District is a Code 3 district.
